

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

OSPREY LLC,

Plaintiff,

v.

POOLWHALE, et al.,

Defendants.

Civil Action No. 20-cv-1253

FILED UNDER SEAL

1) TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER; 2) ORDER RESTRAINING ASSETS AND MERCHANT STOREFRONTS; 3) ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION SHOULD NOT ISSUE; AND 4) ORDER
AUTHORIZING EXPEDITED DISCOVERY

This matter is before the Court upon Plaintiff's Ex Parte Application for the following: 1) a temporary restraining order; 2) an order restraining assets and Merchant Storefronts (as defined infra); 3) an order to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not issue; and 4) an order authorizing expedited discovery against the Defendants identified on Schedule "A" to the Complaint and attached hereto (collectively, the "Defendants"). The Court has considered the Application, the evidence in the record, and the applicable law.

By the instant Application, Plaintiff, moved ex parte pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1116, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 64 and 65, and The All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), for entry of a temporary restraining order and an order restraining assets and Merchant Storefronts, for federal unfair competition in violation of Section 43(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended; federal trademark infringement; common law unfair competition; and common law trademark infringement. Because Plaintiff has satisfied the requirements for the issuance of a temporary restraining order, the Court grants Plaintiff's Application.

FACTUAL FINDINGS & CONCLUSION OF LAW

1. Plaintiff, OSPREY LLC, (“Osprey” or “Plaintiff”) is likely to prevail on its Lanham Act claims, and related state law claims at trial.

2. Richard Mason founded Plaintiff in 2005. He invented the FrogLog[®] back in 2004 when good friends of his became upset that they were finding many dead frogs in the skimmer of their pool. During one morning, his friends found a total of 53 frogs and toads in their pool. Other friends with swimming pools also said frogs were regularly found in their pools. In addition to frogs, there was the occasional mole, mouse, baby bird, opossum, turtle, salamander, squirrel, bat, chipmunk, and more. As an animal biologist, Mason wanted to prevent these needless deaths if possible. He set to work and researched the problem, but there was nothing very effective on the market. He knew that the animal’s natural instinct was to swim all around the edge of the water looking for a way to get out. His thought was that if, while instinctively swimming along the edge of the pool, the frogs could somehow find and climb across a bridge from the pool to the land, they would be able to escape to their safety, before tiring and getting sucked into the pool skimmer.

3. Using foam, fabric, and needle and thread, Mason built a few prototypes and put them into service. He tested the invention by setting up cone traps at the end of the bridge. Over a 23-day period, a total of 50 frogs were rescued from the pool. In the early years of developing the FrogLog[®], Mason spent several thousand hours catching varies species of wildlife, placing them in the pool and observing how they react and use or not use multiple different prototypes of the product. This took place over countless hours and many different prototypes. Developing the prototypes also took many, many hours and required a financial commitment. Mason made modifications and continued testing and gave out more prototypes and continued to test from 2004 to 2005. Reports from the fields were very positive and his invention was actually saving frogs, toads, small insects (like crickets) and small animals too. Today, Plaintiff sells the animal rescue device under the brand FrogLog[®]. (“Plaintiff’s Product”)

4. Plaintiff owns the federally registered trademark U.S. Reg. No. 5,390,968 for Frog Log[®]. The FrogLog[®] animal rescue device is sold in online marketplaces such as Amazon.com and in brick and mortar stores. The Plaintiff’s Product is designed to permit small animals and insects to rescue themselves from being trapped in a pool. The Plaintiff’s Product is royal blue, made of pool chemical safe materials, and comprises a floating platform in a distinct half-moon shape (“Island”) using an inflatable bladder for floating on the water. The Island is connected to a rectangular animal rescue bridge (“Bridge”) connected to a square weighted pouch to keep the device in place on the pool deck (“Dock”). The Plaintiff’s Product includes distinct and non-functional design aspects, including its shape, color, and configuration. (“Plaintiff’s Trade Dress” or “Trade Dress”). Plaintiff identified the need for this product and created the market for this product.

5. Plaintiff has gained significant rights in Plaintiffs’ Mark and Trade Dress, through use, advertising, and promotion. Plaintiff is also the owner of various published photographs, videos, artwork, creative text, and product instructions appearing on froglog.us. (“Plaintiff’s Works”).

6. Defendants, by operating Internet based e-commerce stores, and fully interactive, commercial Internet websites operating under Defendants’ respective seller identities set forth on Schedule “A” hereto (the “Seller IDs”), have advertised, promoted, sold, and offered for sale goods featuring, displaying, and/or using Plaintiff’s Mark and/or Plaintiff’s Works and/or Plaintiff's Trade Dress without authorization and Plaintiff has determined the products that each Defendant is offering for sale are not genuine products.

7. Through the e-commerce marketplace platform, Plaintiff accessed all of the e-commerce stores operating under Defendants' Seller IDs and captured the Defendants' listings at issue on the e-commerce stores. At the conclusion of the process, the detailed webpages and photographs were inspected by Plaintiff's representative who confirmed that each Defendant is featuring, displaying, and/or using Plaintiffs' Mark and/or Plaintiffs' Works and/or Trade Dress without authorization and the products that each Defendant is offering for sale are not genuine products.

8. Plaintiff has a strong probability of proving at trial that consumers are likely to be confused by Defendants' advertisement, promotion, sale, offer for sale, or distribution of products with unauthorized and unlicensed uses of Plaintiffs' Mark and/or Plaintiffs' Works and/or Plaintiff's Trade Dress, in violation of Section 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a), in violation of the Section 1114 of the Lanham Act, and prevailing on its related state law claims.

9. Plaintiff, as well as consumers, is likely to suffer immediate and irreparable losses, damages and injuries before Defendants can be heard in opposition, unless Plaintiff's Application for ex parte relief is granted. There is good cause to believe that the unauthorized and unlicensed use of Plaintiffs' Mark, Plaintiffs' Works, and/or Plaintiff's Trade Dress will continue in the marketplace; that consumers are likely to be misled, confused, and disappointed by the quality of the products so advertised, and that Plaintiff may suffer loss of sales for its genuine products and an unnatural erosion of the legitimate marketplace in which it operates. There is also good cause to believe that if Plaintiff proceeds on notice to Defendants of this Application, Defendants can easily and quickly change the ownership or modify e-commerce store account data and content, change payment accounts, redirect consumer traffic to other seller identification names, and transfer assets and ownership of Seller IDs, thereby thwarting Plaintiff's ability to obtain meaningful relief. As other courts have recognized, proceedings against those who deliberately traffic in infringing merchandise are often useless if notice is given to the adverse party.

10. The balance of potential harm to Defendants of being prevented from continuing to profit from their illegal and infringing activities if a temporary restraining order is issued is far outweighed by the potential harm to Plaintiff, its reputation, and its goodwill as a manufacturer and distributor of quality products, if such relief is not issued.

11. The public interest favors issuance of the temporary restraining order in order to protect Plaintiff's interests and protect the public from being injured, deceived and defrauded by the passing off of Defendants substandard goods as Plaintiff's genuine goods.

12. Under Pennsylvania law this Court may issue a prejudgment asset restraint where Plaintiff's complaint asserts a claim for money damages. This Court also has the inherent authority to issue a prejudgment asset restraint when Plaintiff's complaint seeks relief in equity. According to both the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)(1), Plaintiff is entitled, "subject to the principles of equity, to recover ... defendant's profits." Plaintiff seeks, among other relief, that Defendants account for and pay to Plaintiff all profits realized by Defendants by reason of Defendants' unlawful acts. Therefore, this Court has the authority to grant Plaintiff's request for a prejudgment asset freeze to preserve the relief sought by Plaintiff and preserve the Defendants' ability to at least partially satisfy a judgment.

13. Similarly, if Defendants are given notice of the Application, they are likely to destroy, move, hide or otherwise make inaccessible to Plaintiff the records and documents relating to Defendants' illegal and infringing activities. Therefore, Plaintiff has good cause to be granted expedited discovery.
